Abused and Rescued Dog Shares Positive Messages for Kids and Adults Alike

Children's book celebrates the wisdom of Rudy, who has a lot to say about life, friendships, and making your way in the world

PARK CITY, Utah

It doesn't matter what kind of dog you are.

You can create the life you want.

S-t-r-e-t-c-h yourself.

Author and illustrator Corinne Humphrey's bold, whimsical paintings accompany Rudy's sage canine commentary in The Tao of Rudy, the new children's book selected out of more than 3,100 entries from around the world to win the bronze medal in the Independent Publisher's twelfth annual "IPPY" Awards Competition for Most Outstanding Book Design.

Rudy's life story is as inspiring as his wisdom. After being rescued from an abusive situation, Rudy was adopted out multiple times over a three-year period, bouncing in and out of foster homes. Corinne found him at the Friends of Animal's "Furburbia" adoption center in Park City, Utah. "Rudy is a diamond in the 'ruff,'" says Corinne. "He makes me laugh, stretches my patience, inspires me, and brings me much joy. It makes me wonder, who rescued whom?"

Rudy hasn't forgotten what it's like to be on the streets – he's donating a portion of the book's proceeds to Park City's Summit County Friends of Animals and other charities.
